Berlin, September 17.—(Via London.)
Field Marshal von Hindenburg's forces which have flanked Vilna and Dvinsk, cutting the railroad between those cities, have made a further advance to the east. The war office announced today the capture of Vidy, about 25 miles south of Dvinsk.

The statement follows:
"Western theater of war:

"The troops of the army of Prince

barded the Hilsenfrist and Hill No. 425

CYCLIST DOERFLINGER DOOMED TO DIE AS SPY

Swiss Government Appeals to Germany in Behalf of the Professional Rider.

Geneva, Switzerland, September 17.—
(Via Paris.)—The professional bicyclist, Doerflinger, a resident of Basel, has been condemned to death as a spy
by a German court-martial. The Swiss government has intervened in his behalf with a request for clemency.

An account of Doerflinger's experiences is given by The Journal de Geneve. After the war broke out he traveled in Alsace and Baden as a representative of a business house. He received an anonymous letter asking him to meet a stranger at Montreux, Switzerland. It is said this man engaged him to supply military information.

Through his acquaintance with a German, now an aviator, who had conducted a factory at Freiburg, at which military aeroplanes were manufactured, Doerflinger was able to take a trip in a war plane. All he learned he is alleged to have communicated to a foreign agent, being heavily paid for the information he gave. Also, it is alleged, he made arrangements with the wives of German soldiers at the front to secure military information through these women for which they were paid. It was one of these who denounced Doerflinger. When it was necessary to put anything into writing, he is said to have made use of the inside band of his collar.

Doerflinger, who was condemned to death by a court-martial, has appealed to a higher military court.

5 Yards—One Near YouMUNITIONS OF WAR
MAY BE EXCLUDED

From the Exports to Be Paid For by Proceeds of American Loan to Allies. Pro-German Banks Balk at Munitions.

New York, September 17.—The Anglo-French financial commission seeking to establish a munitions credit loan here, and American financiers who expect to supply the money, were reported to be at odds tonight over the question of including war munitions among exports to be paid for by proceeds of the loan.

The commission and the bankers have agreed on several details, but on this major question, it was said, their views are diametrically opposed. There also is an apparent split on the question in the ranks of the American financiers, it was said tonight.

The commission's attitude is said to be that the big credit, whether a billion dollars or less, should provide funds for all exports and that munitions certainly should be included. Some American bankers think so, too; but a great many are said to be of the opinion that the loan should cover only such exports as wheat, cotton and manufactured products, and that another method must be found to pay for munitions, even if it involves shipment of huge stocks of gold.

The situation has not reached a deadlock, or anything approaching it, but the line of demarcation is clear and well defined.

The State of Russia.

A minor point of variance between the commission and some American bankers is the role that Russia is to play in participation of the loan. Some bankers want to deal direct with that country, it is reported. A third point of disagreement concerns the rate of interest.

If the commission's callers have correctly reflected its views in their talks with newspaper men, Great Britain and France insist that the proposed bonds shall not pay more than five per cent, and that there shall be no underwriting of the issue.

To the underwriting proposal, it is understood, American bankers generally have been woe. Here and there, however, a voice of dissent is heard. Instead of using underwriters, it was thought tonight a syndicate which would subscribe to the loan, and that subscription would be open to all comers on equal terms.

Thus the smallest of the approximately $1,000 million and state banks and trust companies throughout the United States would get exactly the same terms as the largest or as any great private banking firm.

If this program be followed, there are indications that the so-called pro-German financiers of New York would for the most part subscribe millions toward the project, always with the condition that the funds be unavailable for munitions of war. If munitions of war are included, it was asserted, there is not a so-called pro-German banking house in New York city that will subscribe.

Details Agreed Upon.

Other details of the proposed loan, on which the negotiating parties are said to have agreed, are:

The Term—The loan is to run for five years, or ten years, or actually from five to ten years, as may be deemed expedient after the adjustment of other details.

The Form—The loan is to be granted upon straight British and French government bonds, payable in gold.

These bonds are, in effect, to be a first mortgage on Great Britain and France, and consequently they should have priority over all other outstanding bond issues.

The Collateral—There is to be none. There has been no agreement as to the amount of the loan, but this, there is a general belief, can be added to the inclusion of war munitions.

Financiers said tonight that while the first tentative proposal had been to lend the commission a half billion dollars, there was reason to believe this sum might be exceeded.

The commission, said a banker tonight, will not be satisfied with a half billion dollars. It wants a round billion. But if munitions of war be excluded there are indications that two hundred to three hundred million will be knocked off the original billion asked for.

The whole matter may be finished within a few days, one prominent banker said, "or it will be all off." The inference was that it would be "all off" as to the particular proposals now on the boards and that other plans for establishing the credit would have to be considered. There was no inference whatever that the commission's labors would be ended in this event, with failure.

Apparently the men who should know the situation best today, and who are barometer of their sentiments was found today in the strengthening tone of the foreign exchange market.

Pleas Against Loan Carried. Opponents of the loan carried their campaign into Washington today and announced their sentiment from the flaming placards in front of the office of J. Morgan & Co.

"Wall Street's Shame" read one of several large sign boards held aloft by leaders of a mob of men who marched through the financial section. Another read: "The Money Trust is Lending Billions of Dollars to the Enemy—England, France and Russia."

The procession ended with a man carrying a big sign on which were inscribed in red, white and black: "Billions for King George."

The parade stopped in front of the Morgan office. A crowd collected and detectives ordered them to move on. Earlier in the day's large man, dressed in a bright red coat and blue breeches, which, he said, were emblematic of the British army, uniform, sauntered through Wall street and camped in front of the Morgan office. A diminutive straw hat, whose crown was not larger than a silver dollar, rested on his head. He carried a many-colored banner on which was written sentiments similar to those displayed by the paraders. The police finally sent him away.

CONVICT LEASE SYSTEM
RETAINED BY ALABAMA

Montgomery, Ala., September 17.—In an after midnight session of the senate today the bill providing for the abolition of the convict lease system in Alabama was killed, 21 to 12. The bill had been passed in the house, and was being supported by women's clubs and organizations for social betterment throughout the state. The measure provided for the taking out of the mines and turpentine camps of all convicts, abrogating the contracts with corporations employing convicts and putting the state charges to work on roads and farms.

DECREE FOR THE SALE
OF THE N. O., T. & M. R. R.

New Orleans, September 17.—A decree ordering the sale of the New Orleans, Texas and Mexico railroad in this city, on November 15, next, was issued today by Federal Judge Foster. The decree was issued at the request of the New York Trust company, trustee of the bonds of the road, which has been a part of the Frisco system, and for more than a year has been under the management of a receiver.

The reorganization committee of bondholders has announced its plans to buy the road, the sale under court orders being necessary to make it an independent line.

GERARD AND JAGOW
CONSIDER ARABIC

Berlin Believes That Differences Will Be Discussed in Informal Conversations. Agreement Is Expected.

Berlin, September 17.—(Via London.) James W. Gerard, the American ambassador, called on Dr. Gottlieb von Jagow, the foreign minister today, presumably in connection with the situation that grew out of the sinking of the White Star liner Arabic by a German submarine, and the opening of negotiations on the submarine problem. No definite information is obtainable, however, concerning the subjects dealt with.

Nothing can be learned here to confirm a Washington dispatch saying it was the intention to open conversations between the two countries on the submarine situation, but officials generally assume that the new is correct and express the belief that difficulties between the United States and Germany would be on a better way toward settlement by such a method.

Differences in viewpoints, which are only stiffened by the testimony in formal notes, can, officials believe, be more easily adjusted in informal conversations, and all the more so, they say, because the fundamental differences of policy have largely disappeared under the new instructions regarding attacks on passenger steamers.

The United States and Germany, it is declared, appear to be now in substantial agreement on the principle involved, and it is now largely a question of adjusting cases like the Arabic in conformity with that principle.

Germany, it is believed here, will be ready to consider the testimony bearing on the point of how far the captain of the submarine was justified in his belief that the Arabic was bent on attacking him, and that in conversations will have the opportunity to satisfy the American government that her policy and practice under present conditions will harmonize in the future.

"Freedom of the Seas."

Under the heading, "Freedom of the Seas," The Roerich Zeitung takes America to task for her attitude toward submarine warfare. It is a remarkable coincidence, this newspaper says, that two nations apparently striving for the same goal should be involved in such serious differences of opinion. The article continues, "America based her protest against German naval warfare on the contention that she, as the most important neutral, has a commission to fight with all her strength for the freedom of the seas. Germany desires the same goal should be achieved, but she is unwilling to suffer thereby, but she should be willing to make sacrifices for the good of the cause, if they properly appreciate the situation."

The article evidently closes one's eyes to the obvious fact, since a very considerable trade in war materials is being carried on by the United States, that the United States is not a neutral. It argues that these citizens must be exempt from the dangers of war, even though they are in the line of fire, which has been labelled as such. That is the more unreasonable since the same right is not demanded from England. Similar claims might be made concerning warfare on land, which would lead to impossible situations.

He who ventures into the territory of military operations is conscious of the dangers involved, and often must bear lamentable consequences. That is a platitude, which no one who approaches the question without prejudice can avoid."

ALL "F" SUBMARINES
OUT OF COMMISSION

Washington, September 17.—Secretary Daniels today ordered all submarines of the F-4 type out of commission for a thorough examination. His action was taken upon the report of a board of inquiry which ascertained the F-4 disaster to a battery explosion.

This statement was issued at the department.

Secretary Daniels announced that a careful examination of the F-4 by the board of investigation appointed for the purpose showed that in the battery the lead plates were badly corroded through in places, and that the corrosion extended in the steel plates in several places.

Secretary Daniels has ordered under examination the F-1, F-2 and F-3. They will probably be sent to the Mare Island navy yard for thorough examination. The board of inquiry is in the meanwhile has issued instructions suspending all exercises of the submerged runs of these boats."

BULGARIA'S HELP
LOST TO THE ALLIES

Turco-Bulgar Agreement Means That Allies Have Failed in Part of Diplomatic Contest to Swing the Balkans.

Bucharest, Rumania, September 17.—(Via Berlin and London.)—The allies know that in no case may they count on Bulgaria's help on the Gallipoli peninsula, says the semi-official Indepandance Romaine in an article dealing with the Turco-Bulgarian agreement. "They have lost that part of their diplomatic contest in the Balkans. It remains to be seen how the other part will come out."

King Ferdinand will leave tomorrow for a week's vacation on the Danube. This fact completely disposes of reports concerning the activities of Rumanian troops on the frontier, which in reality are nothing more than the annual maneuvers.

Vienna, September 17.—(Via Berlin and London.)—The surrender by Turkey to Bulgaria of the territory from the Dedeahatch railroad will be celebrated publicly in Bulgaria on September 19, the thirteenth anniversary of the annexation of that nation of eastern Rumania. A royal decree announcing the new acquisition of territory will be read all over the country.

Turkish Deal Opposed. Paris, September 17.—A dispatch of the Balkan agency from Bucharest says that the leaders of all the opposition parties in Bulgaria have held a meeting, at which it was decided to publish an appeal to the country explaining the international political situation as affecting that nation. The appeal will be made on the ground that under present circumstances the attitude taken by the government is perilous.

The Bulgarian government's decision to make terms with Turkey has met with considerable opposition. Advice from Bucharest recently reported a majority of Bulgarian statesmen as favoring a rapprochement with the quadruple entente, Serbia and Greece.

German Promises to Bulgaria. Turin, September 17.—(Via Paris.)—The Stampa says it has learned "from a diplomatic source" that Germany has made extensive promises to Bulgaria to obtain that nation's benevolent neutrality. It states that these promises were made to King Ferdinand of Bulgaria by the grand duke of Mecklenburg on behalf of Emperor William, and that among them was the stipulation that King Ferdinand should have the crown of Byzantium.

This dispatch, which lacks authoritative confirmation, would indicate on its face a promise to Bulgaria of a radical extension of its boundaries. The ancient Byzantine empire included all the territory now held by the various Balkan nations and European Turkey.

GREECE AND BULGARIA
ON BETTER TERMS. Athens, Greece, September 17.—(Via Berlin and London.)—There are indications that the relations between Greece and Bulgaria are improving. In the most influential circles the conviction is said now to have been reached that neutrality must be the only policy for Greece.

The utterances of Premier Radoslavoff, of Bulgaria, expressing the hope for more cordial relations with Greece, have made a deep impression, as has also the declaration that the future of the Balkans depends upon an understanding between these two nations.

The pro-Russian newspaper Mir has been suppressed.

Paris, September 17.—A further large number of troops is reported by the Balkan agency to have been called to the Greek colors. The Athens correspondent of this agency says a royal decree has been issued calling out reservists of the classes of 1886, 1887 and 1888 on October 1.

DUMBA TO BE RECALLED
FOR "CONSULTATION"

Washington, September 17.—The Austrian government intends to recall Ambassador Dumba for consultation, according to intimations given to Ambassador Penfield when he delivered the note from the United States asking for the return of the ambassador to Austria.

This arrangement is satisfactory to the American government. It is understood, however, that Ambassador Dumba will not return to the United States.

There is every indication from Ambassador Penfield's dispatches that the Austrian government received the American note in a friendly spirit.

New York, September 17.—Dr. Constantin D. Dumba, the Austro-Hungarian ambassador, whose recall has been asked, visited Count von Bernstorff here today and remained with the German ambassador for more than an hour. When Dr. Dumba left he said he expected to go to his summer house at Lenox, Mass., tonight.

Through his secretary, Count von Bernstorff said he wanted it understood that Dr. Dumba had not held a conference with him, and that being an old acquaintance, the Austrian ambassador merely had dropped in to pay a friendly call.

Asked if Dr. Dumba's call was in the nature of a final adieu, the secretary answered, "Not at all," and said he did not believe Dr. Dumba had made definite arrangements for his trip to Vienna.

Inquiry at steamship offices brought statements that no reservation had been made for Dr. Dumba.

"You seem certain you'll be able to prove your client is sane," "Yes," replied the lawyer. "The only witnesses the other side has are professional alienists."—Life.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

The Junior Department (Third Floor)

One of the Busiest and Most Satisfactory Little Shopping Centers in Atlanta

Look in any day now and what do you see in the Junior Department?

Mothers and daughters grouped here and there satisfactorily choosing fall and winter apparel.

The displays have been brought to that point of excellence that inspires a confidence, a sense of security that here the quest of clothes for the young folk ends.

Varieties are so well chosen, so broad and inclusive, styles are so novel—everything that could be done to insure profitable, pleasant shopping has been done.

New Suits and Dresses for Juniors are indeed new; and as we have been told, the most becoming styles that young women have had in many a season.

Suits of velvets, of serges, of cloths, of gabardines, are developed in genuinely youthful styles. The motif that seems to run through the whole display, with an occasional variation, is a ripple coat. It falls gracefully from the shoulders and flares at the waist, sometimes in plaits, sometimes plain and belted, sometimes edged with a band of fur. The collar is very often high and close-fitting—the chin-chin. Skirts are plaited, or plain and flaring.

The Dresses—the all-serge dresses, the all-silk dresses, the serge and silk dresses bring into play most delightful combinations of colors, plaids and stripes gay and monotonous. So many of them show the smart jacketed effect. It's a display of right styles.

Jansen Nursery Furniture

We have secured the agency for this most attractive Jansen nursery furniture. It includes wicker and reed cribs, bassinets, layette baskets and many other fascinating novelties.

It comes in a rich, cream-ivory, with a dainty touch of pink or light blue now and then.

See it in the Junior Department.

ON WATCH IN THE WARDS.

A ward club would be a good thing in every ward. That is, of course, the right kind of a ward club.The fifth and seventh wards have already demonstrated it. It is purely a business proposition designed to see that no work or improvements to which the ward is entitled are neglected or allowed to go by the boards.At a meeting of the Fifth Ward club just held the members condemned sanitary conditions in two public schools, the State Street school and the Meador Goldsmith school. This condemnation was based upon committee investigation and report made to the club, and the trouble will be remedied at once. They likewise discussed the proposed city bond issue, recognized the importance of it and the necessity for it, and realized that postponement was necessary to its success.These are matters in which the fifth ward residents are interested, not in a political but in a business way; just as much so as if they were to order a carpenter or a tinner to come out and mend an annoying and dangerous leak in the roof. They are not only directly interested themselves, but their children are interested, from a standpoint of health now and from one of adequate facilities in the future.This sort of healthy activity has accomplished things for the fifth ward. Similar activity has brought about improvements in the seventh ward, far in advance of what would have been secured if city matters as to these wards had been allowed to take their own course.There are wards in Atlanta in which not one resident in one hundred knows how it stands with the city as regards streets, sewers, schools, sidewalks and other city improvements. Residents of the fifth and seventh wards not only know to a dollar what they have to count on, but they keep an eye upon conditions, especially as related to health and facilities of city institutions so that nothing to which they are entitled gets away from them.This is the healthiest sort of political activity. Political it is, of course, but it is the business end of politics. It gets down to the basic political principle of the welfare of the community, and, through the community, of the individual.There can be no more healthy or benefi-cent politics than these ward organizations composed of men who seek no political office, but solely community well-being and advancement. The fifth and seventh wards have set a pace which others would do well to follow.

ATLANTANS NOT EASILY MISLED

This is the annual season for flooding
Atlanta, as well as other cities of the south, with announcements of New York "purchasing bureaus," which purport to render an exclusive service in providing clothing and other articles in the style of the day for a specific fee. "If you want style you have got to come to New York for it," they write.
Atlanta styles are less than twenty-four hours from Broadway. Atlanta buyers of women's clothing visit New York and other markets every thirty days.Atlanta buyers of men's apparel are in constant touch with the sources of modern up-to-date style.Atlanta men and Atlanta women can buy in Atlanta styles which are identical with those seen on Fifth avenue. Indeed,the Atlanta wares are made by identically the same houses as those that supply New York.The average Atlantan can do far better here at home, both in the matter of style and price, than he can in a market of which he knows comparatively little, and particularly when he may have to get some one else to do his buying for him.When it comes to modernity in style and reasonableness in price, Atlanta can compare favorably with any of them, anywhere.
But aside from that, where would we be if we began to do our buying in foreign markets? A community is built on home business and every dollar that is sent out of it for something which could be as readily purchased at home takes that much away from our own constructive progress.We preach to the farmer the doctrine of making home supplies, so that his cotton money will remain at home. We are just beginning to reap the benefits of this doctrine because the farmer has begun to practice it. Suppose we should be asked to buy our fire and life insurance in New York or Chicago, or anywhere else? It can easily be imagined what would become of our insurance agencies if we followed this policy.
And so with every other line of business.There is even more reason why we should clothe ourselves at home. There is not only every opportunity to get exactly what we want, but every time we do it we play our due and appropriate part in the constructive progress of the community in which we live.

NOT OUR LOOKOUT.

If merchants in Copenhagen, or any other neutral European port, order goods from the United States, and particularly merchandise which cannot be classed as war contraband, why should American merchants be made to suffer because of English belief that the Copenhagen merchants intend subsequently to ship them into Germany?From a standpoint of justice and international law it is impossible to account for that feature of the recent English prize court decision, declaring forfeited to the crown some $3,000,000 worth of American meat and other products shipped from this country upon orders received from Copenhagen, a recognized neutral port. Concerning this phase of these cases, the English prize court says:It was plain that these ships were carrying towards Copenhagen, when captured, thirteen times the amount of goods which, under normal conditions, they would have been taken to that port.That may have been very true, and yet it does not justify seizure and forfeiture of our goods, simply upon belief that although bound for a neutral port, they were destined for England's enemies.It strikes us that the problem of the disposition of these goods is one for Great Britain to take up with Copenhagen. Our contract is concluded when we have delivered them to the consignees in that neutral port. It is none of our lookout if Copenhagen orders a hundred times as much meat in one year as she would ordinarily take; neither is it any of our business what she does with it after it is received and paid for.But it is very much of our business to see that our commerce with neutral ports is not interfered with upon the high seas, in violation of the laws of nations, and because of somebody's belief about its ultimate destination.It is not a question of ultimate destination with which we have to deal, but of direct orders from merchants in neutral ports for legitimate articles of commerce which they are privileged to order in any extent they see fit.In rendering its decision the English prize court has placed British expediency above international law and treaty agreement. The court has conspired with the government in the violation of solemn treaty obligation, and American producers become the victims of this subversion of law and justice.It is the clear duty of the American government to enter vigorous protest against this unwarranted attack upon American rights. We have no question that when the proper time comes President Wilson will put it as clearly up to England as he has done in the case of Germany.The majority of the American people undoubtedly sympathize with England in the present conflict; but England cannot hope to hold that sympathy by piratical deprivations upon American commerce.

BETTER AMERICANS NOW.

Americans who have spent the past year
viewing the wonders of their own country, and have helped in its upbuilding by investing their money at home, are better Americans now.They have become publicity agents for their country in every laudable way; they can talk of it with more pride and intelligence; their experience has made true patriots of all of them. It took a great war to make many of them know that the wonders of the universe are right here at home.It has been a great year at home! It may be called a year of patriotism and prosperity, with more heart and hope for the future of the country!Telling about when the war and the world will end seems to be all the business some people have.At last it begins to assume the proportions of an autumnal artillery drive on the western front.The patience of America has been put to the test, but in no respect has it been found wanting.The fat men at the military training camps are making themselves "amazingly fit."

EXTRA SESSION WILL RUN
FIFTY DAYS, THINKS PERSONSG. Ogden Persons, of Forsyth, president of the senate, was in Atlanta yesterday and conferred with Governor Harris upon matters touching the extra session of the general assembly.President Persons is of the opinion that the extra session will not be as short and to the point as some have anticipated, but,
on the contrary, believes that the session will run the full limit of fifty days set by the constitution. Governor Harris includes an considerable number of matters in his call for the extra session.It was learned on Friday that Governor Harris has received several communications from prohibition leaders of the house and senate, threatening to attempt to adjourn the extra session without action on the appropriations bill unless Governor Harris includes prohibition in his call for an extra session.A delegation of prominent citizens from Conyers called upon Governor Harris yesterday and asked him to include in the extra session of the legislature the consideration of a local bill to amend the charter of the city of Conyers.Conyers, it seems, had borrowed $30,000 with which to erect a school building, intending to repay this loan by the issue of bonds which would have been made possible by the amendment of the Conyers charter at the last regular session of the legislature.
However, adjournment without action on the amendment bill having a chance for a vote.Conyers now wants the governor to release the situation by allowing the extra session to act upon it. The governor has taken the request under advisement.Those in the delegation from Conyers were Senator Eakes, Representative McCalla, Mayor Gailey and Dr. Gwinn.GOVERNOR MAY GO ON

AND POINTS LESSON IN THEIR PROGRESSThe address delivered last night by Mrs.
William Lawson Peel in the ballroom of the Anselmy hotel was a masterful description of her recent visit west, when she looked into the civic program of the larger cities and brought from them an inspiring message to Atlanta. She pointed out the financial rating of Atlanta, her bank clearings, then her failure along certain lines where other cities with lesser financial equipment, presented better civic conditions, and made a stirring appeal to Atlanta citizenship for a cleaner,
more beautiful city.

In part, Mrs. Peel said:

"The other night, at a show in Seattle,
one funny man said to another funny man,
'I believe you are going blind.' 'I don't care,' said the other man. 'I have seen everything.' And really, when one has seen something of the vast mysteriousness of his cloud-capped mountains, trackless deserts, majestic forests, awe-inspiring canyons, glaciating rivers, foaming waterfalls, giant glaciers, sapphire seas, its copper, silver and gold mines, its millions of acres of golden grain and its splendid cities, surpassing in many respects the older civilization of the east, one does feel impressed with what one has seen. And the most impressive part of it is that it is all our own country, won for us by our pioneer forefathers, whose deeds live never more appreciated than when we ride for days and days and days, and looking from the windows of a Pullman and see, far away, the great, wide, open land."But it is not the beauties of nature that we will consider, but rather the work of men
—men just like you, only not so handsome, and many of them not so well equipped in many ways for the battle of life.
"To begin with the two exposures, they are built entirely on made ground, two years ago was under water. Now great trees are growing there, with masses of plants and flowers, and blossoming vines on every building and miles and miles of beautiful promenades, with places for rest and amusement, and all of them are so close together and so beautiful everywhere. It is a wonderful thing, and they have both made and will close with money in the treasury."
"At San Diego, the color scheme is a old Spanish style, all white, the color supplied by the indescribable riot of blooming flowers of every description known, and each in full flower."San Francisco.
"At San Francisco the color scheme is too wonderful to be described and seen completely. It would take weeks to see the exhibits, but the most interesting things to large numbers of people were the government exhibits along educational lines, which were revelation to me. They included photographs of school buildings, exhibits of school work and practical demonstrations of new methods of scientific, agricultural and

BUILDING OWNERS HONOR WILKINSON

Atlanta Man Elected Treasurer; Doty Named President, and St. Louis Gets the Next Convention.

The eighth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, which has been in session at the Piedmont hotel for the last four days, came to a close yesterday afternoon, when the delegates were carried over the city on an automobile ride.

At the executive session Friday morning, Charles F. Wilkinson, manager of the Candler building and president of the Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, was honored by the national delegates, who chose him treasurer of the national association. Charles E. Doty, president of the Cleveland Association of Building Owners and Managers, was elected president, and L. L. Banks, of Pittsburgh, was elected vice president of the national organization.

Patterson Made Manager. H. G. Loomis, of Omaha, was re-elected secretary, and C. A. Patterson, editor of "Buildings and Building Management," a Chicago publication, was again chosen convention manager. St. Louis won out over New York, San Francisco, Erie and Omaha for the 1916 convention city. This was the seventh time that St. Louis has requested the national organization.

A beautiful gavel, decorated with a gold band, was presented to the Atlanta association by the national delegates. Inscribed on the gold band was the following: "To Atlanta Association of Building Owners and Managers, from the National Association, Sept. 17, 1915. Resolutions were passed, thanking the Atlanta association for their hospitality in entertaining the delegates. The resolution was introduced by W. N. Murray, of Chicago. It reads as follows:

Atlanta Thanked.

"It gives me great pleasure to move a rising vote of thanks to the entertainment committee of the Atlanta association and its chairman, E. M. Horine, and to the delegates, for the very enjoyable entertainment and the perfect arrangements provided for us. "The keys of the city" of the south have been cast at our feet. We came, we saw and we are conquered. We have had a reception in this wonderful and progressive city which is typical of the south. Truly Atlanta. Thy name is Hospitality."

The delegates then rose to their feet in a vote of thanks. The speaker continued: "And now, Mr. President, Ladies and Gentlemen: I have the great privilege and honor of moving a rising vote of thanks to Mrs. E. M. Horine and the members of the ladies' entertainment committee—those gracious and gentle women of the southland, who have opened their hearts and homes to us and to our ladies, and have made this visit to their lovely city one around which happy memories will ever cling."

The delegates rose in thanks to the Atlanta women. Thanks for Candler. Another resolution was adopted thanking Asa G. Candler for the message and precepts he gave the delegates in his paper.

The executive session was then adjourned during the afternoon by an auto ride to points of interest in the city. Every one went home declaring that the convention had been the most successful in the history of the national organization.

"The hospitality of Atlanta is astounding to us," declared E. S. Jewell, of Omaha, who was one of the leading speakers on the program. "I could not believe that the south was such a wonderful place, and that Atlanta could be so gay. This has been the biggest and best convention we have ever had, or will ever hold. And I have come in touch with a hospitality which I do not believe exists anywhere else in the world."

Mr. Jewell declared that Georgians took too seriously the outside criticisms over the Frank case. "The people of Nebraska and Omaha know that the better people of Georgia do not favor mob law, and they are willing to leave Georgia alone in this matter, and let Georgia handle the case herself. Georgia has taken herself too seriously over these outside criticisms resulting from the Frank lynching."

ORDER PHYSICAL EXAMS FOR GEORGIA STUDENTS

Athens, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) The prudential committee of the trustees of the University of Georgia today decided that every student in the institution from this date on shall undergo a physical examination for the purpose of keeping a record of data along this line as records are kept of mental development, and for the purpose of advising students as to courses of physical exercise and diet.

Dr. D. J. Dupree is named official examiner. Dr. L. G. Hardman, who suggested the system, desires to pay Dr. Dupree an annual salary of $500 for the work if the legislative appropriation falls too low to allow payment out of the state funds.

About five hundred students are registered, fifty more than last year at this time. The attendance will be as large as last year.

FELDER AND WHITE PLAN PROHIBITORY RALLY IN MACON

To Defend "Dry" Legislators at Auditorium on Tuesday Night.

Macon, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) Thomas B. Felder and Rev. Jacob L. White, both of Atlanta, today arranged for the use of the city auditorium for next Tuesday night for the purpose of holding a prohibition rally. Their addresses will deal largely with an editorial appearing in the Macon Telegraph a few days ago attacking certain prohibition members of the legislature. The arrangements for the auditorium were made over the long-distance telephone this morning. Mr. Felder stating that he would use the privilege of talking direct to the people of Macon and, in addition to defending themselves, will discuss the prohibition issue in general.

Mayor's Birthday Coming. Macon, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) Mayor Bryges Smith will celebrate his sixty-eighth birthday anniversary next Monday, and the following Friday the people of Macon will honor him by electing him mayor of the city without opposition. With the exception of six years, during which time he served as city clerk, he has been mayor of Macon continuously since 1899. Mayor Smith came to Macon in 1859, and during the war, worked in the ammunition factory here. For many years he was a newspaper man. In all his political races he enjoys the distinction of never having been beaten by an opponent.

Fined for Fighting. Macon, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) Sam Edmundson, proprietor of a Cherry street near beer saloon, was fined $25.75 by Recorder Cochran this morning as the result of a fight in which he and A. Arnold, a street car man, were principals, last night. Edmundson cursed Arnold, and the latter proceeded to knock him down three times. Later Patrolman Howard went to Edmundson's place to serve a court summons, on him, but Edmundson refused to accept the summons. The patrolman then gave him a ride in the patrol wagon and he was locked in the barracks to think it over.

Fined as Blind Tiger. Macon, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) John Gillespie, a Fifth street near beer dealer, was fined $250 for violating the city blind tiger ordinance, and bound over to the city court under a bond of $500, on a charge of violating the state prohibition law, this morning when arraigned before Recorder Cochran. A blind tiger charge against him, clerk H. E. Matthews, was dismissed, but Matthews was held to the higher court on the state charge.

The evidence of the city's two witnesses was thrown out when a dozen persons testified they would not believe them on oath, and the city's case rested entirely on the finding by the city detectives of four dry loads of whisky in the saloon.

Hit by Truck, Dies. Macon, Ga., September 17.—(Special.) J. H. King, aged 43, died this morning at the Macon hospital as the result of injuries sustained several days ago when he was run over by a heavy automobile truck used in the county road work.

The body is being held by a local undertaker pending the receipt of word from the west as to what disposition to make of it.

Cook today filed suit in the United States district court here against the Western Union Telegraph company for damages of $5,000 for the alleged failure of the telegraph company to deliver a message authorizing him to draw on a St. Louis bank for $25. Cook claims he was arrested and forced to stay in jail because he did not receive the money with which to pay his fine.

FARMERS WAITED Settlers Will Be Brought There Under Direction of Southern Settlement and Development Organization

First steps toward bringing to Raymond, Coweta county, agricultural settlers under the direction of the Southern Settlement and Development organization, were decided upon at a mass meeting held there yesterday morning and addressed by officials of the organization and leading Georgians. Charles J. Haden, president of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, stated that he was arranging to present the Georgia moving picture film in northern states, and that it would go far toward bringing south many excellent farmers.

W. T. Berg, general agent at Chicago for the immigration organization, stated that in September he would bring to Raymond representatives of eight families from the neighborhood of Chicago, who had been selected by him to form the initial settlement. He said that the idle lands in the Raymond district furnished wide opportunities for energetic farmers to develop and place under systematic cultivation.

R. M. Pindell, assistant director of the organization, who has spent the last six months studying the opportunities for settlers in Coweta county, said that the county's chief drawback was the "cropper" system. He pointed out that the families the organization would introduce there would be placed on tracts not exceeding eighty acres and that they would be of an energetic class which would closely tend to diversified farming or stock raising.

Following his optimistic review of the possibilities of development through the abolition of the tenancy system, Mr. Pindell, president of the R. D. Cole Manufacturing company and also president of the Coweta Chamber of Commerce, stated that he would call together the directors of the chamber with a view of treating county-wide organization which would co-operate with the Southern Settlement and Development organization. R. F. Shedd, Atlanta, and Garland Jones, Coweta county representative in the legislature, expressed great interest in the proposition. Mr. Shedd has been appointed a state representative of the development organization at Baltimore because of his activities in the development of the state agriculturally.

The meeting of Friday was held under the auspices of the Raymond Industrial club and was presided over by Catchings Threlkeld, of Raymond. Mr. Threlkeld stated that he already had under consideration a large acreage of Coweta county land that could be utilized for colonization purposes. He also decried the ruinous results arising from the cropper system, and stated that thousands of acres of farming land had been deteriorated immensely in value within a few years because it was not properly superintended and devoted to diversified farming.

MEANS AND POSEY HAVE HARD TIME CAPTURING YOUTH

Superintendent Thomas A. E. Means, of the Fulton county juvenile reformatory, and Police Officer B. B. Posey had a lively fight Thursday night with Minnie Jackson, a negro woman, at 90 Wacker street, who they tried to capture her son who had escaped from the reformatory.

Professor Means, who is an elderly, quiet and dignified gentleman, said it was his first experience of the kind. Mose Williams was the juvenile fugitive. He ran away from the reformatory and hid at his mother's house. She did not know where he was, and the police were fighting the professor and the policeman vigorously.

The capture was, however, finally made by the professor and the policeman, and the recorder fined the woman $10 for interfering with the officer in the discharge of his duty.

LARD LADEN STEAMER STOPPED BY SWEDEN

London, September 17.—The steamer Juno, of Gothenburg, with 300,000 pounds of lard, was stopped by order of the Swedish authorities as she was about to sail ostensibly for Stockholm, according to a Reuter dispatch from Malmö. It was suspected that she was bound for a German port. The Swedish steamer Aero, which left Malmö a few days ago for Stockholm, was also stopped by the Swedish authorities and taken to Stettin. German authorities are announcing their readiness to pay for the cargo.

In consequence of these incidents a decree was promulgated today by the Swedish government directing that hereafter no goods, of any kind, which is prohibited, shall be transported from one Swedish port to another by water, but solely by rail.

Martin, federal reserve bank at St. Louis, informed the treasury department today that government funds were not needed there to finance the crop movement this year. Agents at Kansas City and Minneapolis notified McC. Martin that the government deposits were not needed in their districts.

An Unwise Question.

The cross-examining lawyer had adopted a rather unpleasant tone in questioning the witness, who, however, kept his temper. "Have you ever been arrested?" was among the questions put.

"No, sir."

"Have you ever been in this court before?"

"No, sir."

"Are you sure of that?"

"Your face looks very familiar—very familiar. Where have I seen it before?"

"I am the bartender in the saloon across the street."

Auto Men Planning to Make Harvest Festival a Success

Ways and means through which the Atlanta Automobile and Accessories association might assist the Harvest Festival association are taken up at an enthusiastic meeting yesterday, and arrangements were made to take a prominent part in the parades and celebrations attendant upon Merchants' day.

The details of the floats which will represent the automobile men will be worked out by a live committee yet to be appointed. It was suggested that at least two principal floats be constructed, one to set forth the auto interests and the other those of the accessories firms.

To assist in welcoming to the festival the queens from all the counties who will come to the city accompanied by delegations, the automobile association will furnish a number of machines in which local representatives of the city and festival association may meet these tours at neighboring towns and escort them to Atlanta.

The proposition of bringing here De Palma, Burman and other speed kings of the race track was discussed with enthusiasm and every effort will be made to bring about a big feature of this nature here during carnival week. It was pointed out, however, that the great colonial motif to be held on the Pacific coast about that date might interfere with these plans.

Some time ago the city of Rome erected three new bridges at a cost of $225,000. The street railway company, which has been using the old bridges free since 1884, was asked to pay one-third of the total cost, or $75,000. The company demanded and the matter has at last been brought to the federal court. The lawyers representing the railway company are John C. Doan, Louisville, Ky., and Dean & Dean, Rome. The city is represented by Judge Joel Brannan, Ed Madison, John C. Doan, Louisville, Ky., and Dean & Dean, Rome. Short speeches were made by all the legal representatives.

The company demanded and the matter has at last been brought to the federal court. The lawyers representing the railway company are John C. Doan, Louisville, Ky., and Dean & Dean, Rome. The city is represented by Judge Joel Brannan, Ed Madison, John C. Doan, Louisville, Ky., and Dean & Dean, Rome. Short speeches were made by all the legal representatives.

You can, with benefit to health and pocketbook, eat down materially on meat when Faust Spaghetti is served at dinner. Mr. Stubbs little dreamed of the rich value of his land until recently in the past of geological surveys passed through that section, making United States government surveys. A few weeks later the owner received a handsome offer for only a few acres of land, and decided to investigate its sudden and surprising rise in value. Looking it over nothing could be seen, but probably mineral deposits and specimens were sent to the state geological department.

The trial consumed more than two days and the case was hard fought. Counsel for Smith has filed a motion for a new trial, which will be heard by Judge Cox within the next sixty days.

HAPPENINGS AT BIG BUSINESS COLLEGE

New Pupils Are Enrolling at the Southern Business College, While the Graduates Are Daily Securing Positions.

LOUIS A. SEARSON.

Sixty-two new pupils have enrolled for the fall term at the Southern Short-hand and Business University, of this city.

Others still are booked for the coming week.

The rapid advance of cotton is decreasing the number of pessimists and is giving an impetus to business such as has not been felt since before the war began.

Almost every day one or more of the Southern's students are going out into positions.

To-day's mail contained a request from Outburt for a male stenographer and office assistant and a letter from a large fertilizer company for a book-keeper.

Besides, two or three other Atlanta firms phoned for office help and were supplied from the school.

Applications for admission to the school were received from South Carolina, North Carolina, Mississippi, Florida, Alabama, Iowa, Virginia and Georgia.

Mr. John W. Bryan, a graduate of the Southern, writes from Demorest, Ga.:

"I have been appointed teacher of stenography and correspondent of Piedmont College."

News, published all over the United States, comes from Washington, D. C., that William I. Denning, who is a graduate of the Southern Business College, has been appointed chief clerk of the Postoffice Department at Washington, a very exalted and lucrative position.

In a letter from Mr. Louis A. Searson, South Carolina's most expert accountant, who is also a graduate of the Southern, he writes:

"I have been engaged in the practice of accounting and auditing for a profession, my clientele being among the leading enterprises of North and South Carolina and Florida. I have successfully conducted audits of mercantile and manufacturing establishments, banks, county and city offices, etc., and have reasons for believing that my work in each case has been satisfactory."

"It gives me pleasure to state that I attribute my success as an expert accountant to the training received while attending your institution. I consider the course of instruction at the Southern superior to any I have looked into."

Now is the time to enter the Southern Business College. Don't delay. Ask Atlanta's business men to recommend the best Business College, and you'll then enroll at the Southern.

BRITISH CABINET SPLIT OVER CONSCRIPTION?

Rumored Several Members Will Resign Unless Compulsory Service Is Adopted.

London, September 17.—England is absorbed in the rumored cabinet crisis over the question of conscription, to which it is reported David Lloyd George and Winston Spencer Churchill have been converted. Lord Curzon and Lansdowne, Andrew Bonar Law, Walter Hume Long, J. Austen Chamberlain, the Earl of Selborne and Sir Edward Carson, the conscriptionist members, are said to be threatening to resign unless Premier Asquith, First Lord of the Admiralty, Sir Edward Grey, Lord Kitchener and other cabinet members adopt their chosen policy.

Lacking positive statements from Premier Asquith and Lord Kitchener that conscription is necessary for the safety of the country, the system is likely to find little support in the present parliament with radicals, laborites and nationalists opposed to it. Many members opposed to conscription are prepared to accept, however, the verdict of the premier and war secretary on the question which now is a subject of serious consideration in the cabinet.

Churchill Discusses War.

The first speech made to the public by a member of the British cabinet since the publication of rumors of a difference of opinion in the cabinet over the question of conscription was delivered by Winston S. Churchill, chancellor of the duchy of Lancaster, at Enfield today.

"It is not an easy moment," said Mr. Churchill, "for a public man to open his mouth on any topic, for there are so many people who seem to have less to do than they ought to who are engaged in trying to make difficulties, even more than already existed, and seeking to make artificial divisions in regard to matters of great consequence which should be approached in a spirit of impartiality and good will."

Mr. Churchill added that during the past four or five months the allies had not done as well as they might have done. There had been events which, while not disastrous, were disappointing. In France and Flanders a series of resolute and costly attacks was made in the German lines, and although ground was gained, the lines of the Germans were not pierced.

In the Dardanelles.

In the Dardanelles, he said, the allies had gained invaluable ground, which they were now consolidating. But they had not gained the advantage at the points at which they aimed. Then there had come the retreat of the Russians, and while the Russians were rearming and recovering their strength, a new and unmistakable burden had fallen upon Great Britain. The situation was a very serious one, but the allies had it in their power to carry the war to a successful conclusion, and they could do it, the chancellor said, if they utilized their whole strength and the national capacity.

After all, Mr. Churchill continued, the allies did not seek the struggle, and, if they did their duty, they would have done all they could. It was the speaker's conviction that the liberties of Great Britain and of Europe were still intact and inviolate, those who afterward looked back upon "this unhappy but not inglorious" generation would be able to say "we did not fail under the test and have preserved the liberties of the world."

AT THE THEATERS

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Manager George H. Hickman has secured for the Forsyth next week a bill that looks like one of the biggest Atlanta has seen in many days. Musical comedy is listed in the headline place, with a company of thirteen people, including a pretty chorus. Another big act will be the pantomime "Gypsy Camp," featuring a big carnival of dance by a company of fourteen people. Besides these there will be five other big acts.

The gorgeous gowns of Muriel Worth, the beautiful dancer who, with Lew Brito, is the headliner this week, continue to attract much attention. Knapp and Cornelia, vaudeville's versatile duo; Charles Mack Z. Co., in an Irish comedy sketch, and others make up a popular program this week.

PRINTING PAPER MONEY TO MEET THE DEMAND

Washington, September 17.—Improved business conditions are indicated by the increase in demands for paper money, according to treasury department officials.

To meet the demand for United States notes and silver and gold certificates, Secretary McAdoo today authorized the director of the bureau of engraving and printing to increase the daily output of paper money by 25,000 sheets. Director Ralph of the bureau said the increased demands show that money is circulating more freely. Mr. McAdoo's order does not increase the total amount of paper money, but is designed to keep up the reserve stocks of the treasury in order that notes which come in for redemption may be reissued immediately.

ANIMALS AND BIRDS

MENACE FRENCH CROPS

Paris, September 17.—Because of the prohibition imposed by the French government on hunting wild animals and birds have multiplied so rapidly that crops in orchards and gardens in various forest regions have been ravaged. The menace has become so serious that government authorities are now killing rabbits, hares, pheasants and other animals and birds which have fed on the crops.

The killing is done on specified days. The hunters act collectively, and no individual sportsman is allowed to go out for game. Wherever possible the game is taken alive and transferred to other parts of the country for restocking purposes.

FATHER INVESTIGATES KILLING OF W. E. M'GEE

Many Do Not Believe Story That Raymond Youth Was Robber.

Columbus, Ga., September 17.—(Special.)—W. E. McGee, of Raymond, Ga., the father of young Marshall McGee, who was killed by Policeman N. Harry Gibson, who, in turn, was himself killed, accompanied by a private detective, the sheriff of Coweta county and others, is in Columbus making a thorough investigation into the circumstances which led up to the tragedy which cost his son's life.

Mr. McGee has held a conference with Solicitor George C. Palmer, who himself does not believe that the truth has come out, and that the boy was not a highway robber, but that he acted as the result of previous circumstances, and the solicitor has stated that he will aid in the investigation in getting at the truth.

The general opinion, from certain facts secured, is that McGee was either robbed while asleep in a resort of the restricted district and went back and got his money by force, or that he was robbed in a game by crooked dice or cards, and after leaving went back and hid those who took his money from him to give it up.

This is borne out by the fact that when McGee was taken to the cash register he took a given amount, as he took some paper money, some change and some silver. He took a silver in the drawer. Chestnut sticks to his story, and there is no proof to the contrary that has been made public, but the officers and father of the boy are determined to find out what happened prior to the entrance into the store of the young boy.

It has been hinted that startling developments are expected, but as yet no arrests or warrants have been sworn out.

Previously a report came through Sofia that a British transport had been sunk by a mine at the entrance to the Dardanelles.

AMERICAN TROOPS FIGHT MEXICANS

Battle Occurred Across Rio Grande—One Carranza Soldier Wounded—No Casualties on American Side.

Brownsville, Texas, September 17.—United States cavalrymen and Mexican soldiers exchanged shots across the Rio Grande at two points today without casualties on the American side. In the first brush, on the outskirts of Brownsville, one Carranza soldier was wounded. In the second engagement, near Donna, Texas, which lasted for more than two hours, no one was wounded on either side.

According to reports made to Colonel A. P. Blockson, in command of the border patrol here, the Mexicans opened fire without provocation in both instances. Charges that Carranza troops participated in the fight near Brownsville were denied by officers of the Matamoros garrison, who explained that the soldiers were asleep on the river bank, and was struck by a stray bullet.

The fighting near Brownsville started when a lieutenant, commanding a detachment of twenty troopers sent to investigate reports of firing across the border, was fired upon after he had questioned a Mexican, fishing from the opposite bank of the river. The officer turned to rejoin his troops the fishermen opened fire. Almost simultaneously half a dozen other men appeared on the river bank and joined in the firing.

U. S. Troops Returned Fire.
The troopers, who were hidden in the bushes, returned the fire, and the exchange of shots continued for fifteen minutes, when two Carranza officers rode up and beat the Mexicans back with their swords. While the firing was at its height several hundred residents of Matamoros besieged the garrison there and demanded that they be given guns that they might join in the fight. They were dispersed.

In the clash near Donna, 60 miles northwest of Brownsville, about forty Mexicans attacked a detachment of ten soldiers sent to investigate reports that an American outpost had been fired upon. Spasmodic firing continued for several hours, but the marksmanship of the attacking party was poor, and all of the shots went wild. It was reported that the Mexicans were struck by bullets, but an official report to post headquarters here tonight stated that none was wounded, so far as could be ascertained.

At all other points along the international boundary the situation today was quiet.

BANDITS THREATEN LIVES OF AMERICANS.

El Paso, Texas, September 17.—Bandits operating along the Mexican Northeastern railroad have threatened the lives of all foreigners, particularly Americans, according to reports received here today. These threats state that the bandits have been ordered to kill any American who is found on the train, and that they will receive the ransom demanded by Edward Ledwidge.

Only half of the $10,000 ransom had been delivered to the bandit when he died amid a hail of bullets. Ledwidge reached the train of rescuers unhurt.

A special train is touring the line and employees are being urged to leave the country. An account of Ledwidge's rescue, received here today, stated that the train carrying a few Americans with the $10,000 ransom money, was stopped by Villa soldiers. A squad of the best marksmen were sent on a detour to a point on the trail over which the bandit must come. The train then proceeded to the rendezvous. A bandit guard marched Ledwidge into view and followed within good rifle shot. Then the bandit who was to receive the ransom money rode to the train.

As he received a package of money from J. C. Faddock, representative of the railroad, the bandit saw a Villa soldier. He thrust the package into his shirt, swung his head around and fired back up the trail. The soldiers sent on detour opened fire, as did the soldiers on the train, but the rider escaped.

Ledwidge's guard opened fire upon him, but the American raced for the train and reached his rescuers unharmed. The Americans were not responsible for firing upon the bandits, it was said. They were compelled to submit to the Villa military commander, who was under orders to kill the bandits who came for the money.

AMERICAN RECOGNITION FOR HAITI GOVERNMENT

Washington, September 17.—Formal recognition has been accorded by the United States to the new government in Haiti, headed by President D'Artigue.

Charles Davis, of the American legation at Port au Prince, called late today that he conveyed notice of recognition to the Haitian government last night. Rear Admiral Caperton, commanding the naval expeditionary force on the island, reported that he had exchanged national salutes with the Port au Prince shore batteries and called with his staff on President D'Artigue.

This action is in line with the intention of the Washington administration to negotiate a treaty by which the United States will assume a virtual protectorate over Haiti, supervising her financial and police administrations. The treaty is before the Haitian senate, and its ratification could not be completed without recognition of the government.

The treaty cannot become effective until it has been approved by the United States senate. Arrangements for carrying out its purposes through the naval expedition, naval officers are handling the customs service and guaranteeing order now, and will continue to do so until a formal protectorate can be set up.

President D'Artigue was elected in a contest with the French legation and killed by revolutionists several months ago. He is the ninth, except five the republic has had in the last seven years, all of his predecessors having been killed or exiled.

FIVE TEXANS GUILTY OF ELECTION FRAUDS

Corpus Christi, Texas, September 17.—Verdict of guilty was returned in federal court here today against five citizens of Nueces county charged with irregularities in the general election in November, 1914. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the cases of sixteen other defendants and reported inability to agree on the guilt or innocence of one defendant.

When the trial began forty-one defendants faced the court. Judge Walter T. Burns yesterday instructed the jury to return verdicts of not guilty in the cases of nineteen of the defendants, leaving the fate of the other twenty-two in the hands of the jury.

The five found guilty today, and for whom the jury recommended the death penalty, were Henry Stevens, merchant; Tom B. Dunn, former city secretary; Lee Riggs, constable; Ed Castleberry, former constable; and August T. Hinchey, county clerk.

A mistrial was entered in the case of Walter F. Timon, judge of Nueces county, and his case probably will be retried at the January term of court.

Sentence will be pronounced on the five found guilty on September 24. They were released on their own recognizance until that date.

STEFANSSON SAFE IN ARCTIC REGIONS

Explorer, Given Up for Lost, Reports That He Is in Good Health and Has Discovered New Land.

Nome, Alaska, September 17.—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, chief of the Canadian government Arctic exploring and surveying expedition that left Victoria, B. C., in June, 1913, who got out of the ice with two companions, from the shores of northeastern Alaska in March, 1914, to seek new land in uncharted seas, did not go to his death, as the world has begun to fear, but found the new land, and the only hardships endured were those of short rations.

The power schooner Ruby, arrived from Herschel Island yesterday with dispatches from Stefansson to the Canadian government, in which he omits reference to the perils of the journey on the ice and gives space to scientific results achieved.

Stefansson is wintering at Banks Land, where he has a large power schooner and a small one. He plans to explore his new territory during the winter and summer months, and to penetrate further into the unknown region between Alaska and the North Pole, where no ship has ever gone.

THIRTEENTH DEATH REPORTED

The southern wing of the expedition, is pursuing its scientific work in Mackenzie Delta and reports no mishap except the death of Engineer Daniel Blue, of the power boat Alaska.

This is the thirteenth death among members of the expedition. Eight men perished while trying to reach Wrangell Island and another accidentally shot himself. Another man, who was a member of the expedition, died of a heart attack while on the ice.

Stefansson, with two companions, Storker and Anderson, set out from Martin Point, Alaska, March 22, 1914, over the frozen Polar sea to search for supposed new lands in the Beaufort sea.

Stefansson told Captain Cottle that after leaving the supporting party on the ice north of Martin Point he and his two companions set out on their journey to the north, but after continuing their journey ninety days they decided to return to land. They turned back and landed on the mainland at a point near which the power boat Mary Sachs, of the Stefansson expedition, was wintering. Here the three men outfit for another three months' trip. They again went upon the ice, going north and west, and discovering the continental shelf.

Stefansson spent some time exploring his new find, but at length, owing to scarcity of provisions, was compelled to set out on the return journey to land. The men had been on the ice for nearly seven months. The return to shore was accomplished with great difficulty. The men subsisted on the most meager rations, and kept making day after day. The dogs were almost famished. Finally the party arrived at Banks Land, thoroughly worn out. For seven months they had been on scanty rations, traveling almost continuously.

Stefansson and his companions made their way from Banks Land, which is uninhabited, to Hall's Island, which is visited by whalers. Captain Lewis Lane, cruising on his power schooner Polar Bear, found Stefansson and his companions making their way along the southwestern coast of Banks Island.

Excellent Health and Spirits.

They were in excellent health and spirits, and eager to reach the southern wing of the expedition, that they might obtain supplies and continue their explorations.

Stefansson had expected to fall in with the Polar Bear just as he did. He immediately chartered the schooner, and with Captain Lane proceeded northward at once in the hope of making further discoveries while the sea was open and free of ice.

The season was too far advanced, however, and the explorers reluctantly steered for Herschel Island. The Polar Bear was at Herschel island when the power schooner Ruby, which had been trying for two years to reach the island, arrived there from Port Clarence with supplies for the Hudson Bay company.

Immediately upon arriving at Herschel Island, Stefansson began preparations for continuation of his explorations. He purchased the Polar Bear for $20,000 from Captain Lane, and the power schooner Ruby, and with them for Banks Land, where he probably is now.

It is the intention of Stefansson to establish a base on Banks Land and continue his exploration from that point. The time of the return of the expedition cannot be foretold, as Stefansson intends to continue until he has fully ascertained the limits of the new land he has discovered. He will also seek other new lands.

No Particular Hardship.
Stefansson told Captain Cottle that except during a few days before reaching Banks Land he and his two companions suffered no particular hardship during the entire seven months on the ice. They always had enough food to keep hunger away. They did not miss a meal during the whole journey, yet they lived seven months on food designed to last three months.

Captain Cottle reports that the southern party, of which Dr. Rudolph Anderson, of Iowa, is commander, were all well at last accounts. The only loss was the death of Engineer Daniel Blue, of the power boat Alaska, which occurred at Hall's Island in early spring.

Before departing from the Herschel Island for Banks Land, Stefansson established communication with the southern party and also sent a man past with the power boat Mary Sachs to continue explorations to the eastward and establish supply bases for future operations of the southern party.

TWENTY SUBMARINES LOST BY THE GERMANS

London, September 17.—The Germans have lost twenty submarines since the beginning of the war, according to an editorial note in The Motor Ship and Motor Boat, while the British losses have been only seven. Including the E-7, the destruction of which was announced yesterday.

The Atlanta National won the second game, taking ten innings to win. The third game of the series played last Saturday went to the Agogas, the count being 10 to 9.

Both teams are confident of annexing the fourth and deciding game, and both are in great shape for the fray. The Agogas will send York, their elongated twinner, who has twirled all their games so far, back to the box. The Atlanta National will probably oppose Chast, a left-handed pitcher who has used last Saturday play.

The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. Admission fee of 25 cents will be charged.

NOTED PHILANTHROPIST IS COMING TO ATLANTA

L. T. Cooper, Millionaire Manufacturer, Gives Large Part of Enormous Income to Charity Each Year--Helps Poor of Many Cities

Preparing for the widely heralded visit to Atlanta of L. T. Cooper, the millionaire philanthropist, Private Secretary Willis arrived Thursday over the N. C. & St. L. and is registered at the Piedmont.

Mr. Willis states that L. T. Cooper's visit to Atlanta was decided on at the last minute, and was directly brought about by the special health reports from this section, submitted to him by citizens and friends in Atlanta.

Mr. Cooper is in Cincinnati today and had planned to go direct to Pittsburgh, Pa., but finally determined to include Atlanta in his itinerary.

Mr. Cooper is described as one of America's foremost leaders of advanced thought, particularly in connection with his new health theories, based on what is known as the Tanlac treatment.

Mr. Cooper's suppositions, based on the reports made to him, are that much of the disease and suffering now prevalent in this section is caused by weak, disordered stomachs, and that nine out of ten of these disorders are directly attributable to too much eating and drinking and too little out-of-door exercise and air.

In Louisville, Ky., Cincinnati, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Pa., and other large cities of the north and east, where Mr. Cooper has passed the greater part of last year in public health work, hygienic research and philanthropic endeavors, practically the same conditions have existed, and it is one of Mr. Cooper's theories that the Tanlac treatment is the direct remedy therefor.

Asked in regard to Tanlac, Mr. Willis stated that he would leave all medical and scientific details to Mr. Cooper, and that he was prepared to prepare for Mr. Cooper's coming and to complete certain investigations Mr. Cooper required.

Tanlac, according to the late reports published in Louisville, Nashville and Birmingham papers, is not what is commonly called a medicine, but a liquid, maximum strength of medicinal properties of a few drops of the liquid, which plant properties, together with other ingredients, obtain their high efficiency under the personal direction of Herr Jos. Von Trimbach, a native German, resident in the city, in charge of the Cooper laboratories.

It is stated that Tanlac quickly overcomes catarrhal derangements and acts directly in the correction of stomach, kidney and intestinal disorders.

In New York, Philadelphia, Boston, Louisville and many other cities, thousands have been converted to Cooper's "direct" theories and have benefited accordingly by the Tanlac process.

HOW ARE YOUR GLASSES?

Do you use glasses at all? Do you have to put your reading a little further away than usual? Do your eyes tire when put to the ordinary daily work? Do they feel strained? Do you look for a little better light? Do you have to "squin" or concentrate before you can see? Do you have eye headaches? If you have any of these troubles and you are using glasses they are wrong. If you have no glasses you should get them.

Why tolerate eye troubles and bad glasses when good ones are so easy to get? Our reputation is backed by more than 100,000 glass prescriptions for the best people in our country. We refer you to any of them; they are easy to find.

ORGANIZED FIGHT ON WEEVIL PLANNED

Farmers From 24 Georgia Counties Present at Meeting to Map Out Campaign Against Pest.

Thomasville, Ga., September 17.—(Special.)—An organized fight against a determined campaign against the boll weevil with the aid of state and government funds was planned at the conclusion of a largely attended meeting held here today for the purpose of considering the best means of combatting the invasion of Georgia by the cotton pest.

Resolutions introduced by Judge Cobb, of Americus, were passed calling upon the government and upon the Georgia legislature at the extra session to grant appropriations for use in fighting the weevil.

Committees from all the counties affected will be appointed to confer with officials and map out a definite plan of campaign.

The greatest interest was taken in the meeting. The many farmers present from over twenty-four Georgia counties followed closely suggestions made by experts for fighting the weevil, and evinced a determination to take advantage of this advice in putting up a strong defense against the small but formidable invader.

The large crowd, furthermore, welcomed the Commercial Association, where the meeting was held.

Worsham Opens Meeting.

The meeting was opened this morning with the introduction of State Entomologist E. L. Worsham by C. W. Cooper, president of the Thomas County Commercial Association. Mr. Worsham gave a comprehensive and interesting explanation of the object of the meeting. He declared that the weevil in that state, he declared, was the most serious pest of cotton, and that the weevil in that state, he declared, was the most serious pest of cotton, and that the weevil in that state, he declared, was the most serious pest of cotton.

W. D. Hinds, state entomologist of Alabama, who gave the history of the weevil and its development. He said fifty weevils in the field at the beginning of the season, he declared, would increase to the end of it. Sea Island cotton, he said, is twice as attractive as upland to the weevil.

The United States bureau is so interested in the weevil, he declared, that it has sent a G. D. Smith here next season.

W. D. Hinds, state entomologist of Alabama, who gave the history of the weevil in that state, he declared, was the most serious pest of cotton, and that the weevil in that state, he declared, was the most serious pest of cotton.

On one occasion Mr. Cooper stated: "It is not my desire to accumulate riches. It is one of the greatest pleasures of my life to aid those in distress. It matters not whether they are suffering physically or financially, and I shall always continue my custom of giving a large percentage of the money realized from the sale of Tanlac to the poor."

"Far greater to me than the accumulation of riches or the winning of world-wide fame is the knowledge that my medicine and my gold have served the purpose of alleviating the distress of my fellowmen."

It is expected that Mr. Cooper will be accompanied by his wife. Handsome quarters have been reserved for them at the Piedmont.—(adv.)

Georgia Motion Picture To Be Shown Here Again When It Is Completed

The Georgia motion picture will be shown again in Atlanta and also in other Georgia cities as soon as it is completed, according to the following letter just received from C. J. Haden: Editor Constitution: Allow us to thank the people of Atlanta and of Georgia for the generous co-operation extended us in producing the moving picture. Their responsiveness, their state pride and deep-rooted confidence in Georgia is an inspiration.

As it was announced, the exhibit last evening was incomplete and preliminary. Bringing the enterprise to that degree of perfection which we have planned, requires patience and painstaking effort. It is our purpose that all sections of the state be represented.

We especially wish to express our gratitude to the several organizations of Atlanta which participated in the work with us. To the press of Atlanta, without whose acknowledgment we could not have proceeded, we are indebted. The picture will be shown in other cities and towns of Georgia and again in Atlanta at a reasonably early date.

A NICE COTTAGE
That Can Be Bought Cheap
The owner of a nice 6-room cottage on Colquitt avenue has asked us to push the sale of his house vigorously. This is right near Euclid avenue, in one of the choice neighborhoods of Inman Park.

We have been holding this house at $5,000, but are prepared to make real concessions in price. A few hundred dollars will handle it.

agency in New York, who is home on a visit to his parents.

Rogers heard of the mysterious visit at the Candler and Owens home shortly after police had returned to headquarters. He made several inquiries and finally located the man who drove the jitney in which Burnett made his visits.

Finding where the driver left his "fare," "Boots" went to police headquarters with W. H. Baldwin, manager of the Jitney Bus company, and they took Assistant Chief of Police E. J. Jett and Patrolmen Webb and Cooper to the home of Burnett at 40 Barlow street.

At police headquarters Burnett first claimed that he was and had been so drunk that he didn't know what he had done, but he later stated, according to the police, that he went to the residence of Candler and Mrs. Owens, claiming that he was hunting work.

Baldwin and Rogers state that he told them on the way to the station house that Mr. Candler owed him money.

Burnett stated that he had only been in Atlanta two weeks and was going to leave town Friday morning.

SWAMP LAND DRAINAGE ADVOCATED BY WATSON

San Francisco, September 17.—The International Drainage and Flood Control congress met here tonight in conjunction with the annual meeting of the fifth annual meeting of the National Drainage congress.

Col. E. J. Watson, of Columbia, S. C., president of the National Drainage congress, made the only address of the first session.

"Upon us rests the responsibility of arousing the people of the United States to the immediate necessity for flood prevention and drainage of our swamp lands that $100,000,000 of annual food loss be saved; that 2,000 deaths from malaria be prevented; and that 5,000,000 acres of swamp land, 6,000,000 of which are in the west, be converted into productive farms. The sum of $1,500,000,000 yearly would accrue in agricultural productions within the borders of the United States if these lands could be converted into productive farms."

There is a yearly death and property loss far in excess of any we ever will suffer from a foreign foe, Watson said. "We would add that the nation alone a productive farm domain greater than the states of Illinois and Indiana combined."

"This area would give homes to 1,925,000 families."
